

To all interested Stakeholders
To whom it may concern

In November 2018, Bologna Airport submitted the project CYRANO-Cyber Awareness diploma under the CEF-Telecom call. We are glad to inform you that the project was positively evaluated. The activities started in July 2019 and will continue for 24 months.

The project was thought to implement an innovative mix of a technological e-learning tool (in multiple languages) and organizational procedure upgrades (Training integrated quality procedures), focused and tailored on critical infrastructures and essential services operators. CYRANO aims to increase awareness among employees, considered as IT network access points and often target of attacks to the cyber security of companies. It is therefore needed to train and prepare them in cybersecurity and cyber awareness fields as employees represent the “first line of defence” of company network and their behaviour can strongly affect its resilience. At the end of the process, a first Cyber Awareness Diploma will be issued, needed to operate in the airport IT systems.

The followed approach is in line with EU Policy and Laws.

The project activities foresee the establishment of a Stakeholders network including local, national and international actors interested to project activities and results: we are then asking your availability to be part of this working group.

The related commitment can be estimated in:

- a kick-off meeting of the Stakeholders group to be held in webinar mode in which Bologna Airport will illustrate the chosen approach and the methodology, to be held predictably in October 2020 (about 4 hours);
- the anonymous compilation of a short self-assessment questionnaire on cyber risks preparedness (30 mins);
- a meeting (for which remote participation will also be available) to share the CYRANO test results and focus on recommendations to "replicate" the initiative, to be held predictably in March 2021.

In May 2021, at project end, a workshop/conference open to public will be organised, to which will be invited all the contributors to project activities.

Should you be interested to join the Stakeholders Group, please contact us at cyrano@bologna-airport.it.

Kindest regards,

CYRANO Executive Committee
